Curved Air entered suddenly at no. 12 last week but have slowed in their progress. They are a relatively new group, with an extremely good looking lead girl singer from Sweden. It was their idea with their first L.P. to put the record sleeve notes, titles, designs etc. directly on to the surface of the disc itself. This worked great at first until someone got round to playing it for the twenty-fifth time or so and discovered an enormous amount of distortion cropping up.

Nancy Sinatra and Lee Hazelwood pop up again with lyrics even more suggestive than usual. The record itself is familiar. To put it another way, we have all heard bits of it around the dining room area.

The Supremes are making good progress with 'Nathen Jones'. Not much you can say about the record unless you happen to be a rabid fan.

Best new entry this week is the James Taylor single, a slow ballad that manages to hold attention without becoming too complicated. That could be a pack of lies and absolute nonsense. Has anybody read this far? If you ~~have~~ stand up raise your right hand and pour your drink over whoever happens to be next to you; at the same time wiggle your ears at the person on the other side and shout three times at the top of your voice 'EXTERMINATE', looking pointedly at Gordon from the corner of your eye.

If you never got to this bit then sit quietly and pretend you have no idea what's going on.

GROOVY

There's just no getting away from it folks, the scene has really been swinging around here of late. Speculation about the lurking big berg has given way to a frenzied burst of nothing in particular. <sup>hear</sup> that one of the radio operators, who shall remain nameless, has discovered a new super instant way of getting rid of beastie interference using nothing other than that trusty tried and tested traditional tool of the true fid - the shovel. Toby has joined the Halley Bay flying club with a superbly executed dive from the gash gantry; poor old gantry, it must have had more fractures than the whole of the rest of base put together, even counting the latest contribution: a broken finger from Toby. Even Ian tried to get in on the act but could only manage a couple of stitches. On the vehicle front, that well-known mobile bog, the Elsan, burst briefly into life and was to be seen chugging serenely over the bondu before losing consciousness again. There have also been rumours about numerous I.H.s being stranded at the Old Base. Lets just hope it doesn't break off and float away like Mobster headland, that famous local landmark that is alas no more. There has been a veritable spate of photographic activity culminating in the grand slide show and photty competition. Rarely if ever have such a multitude of skunted horizons been gathered together in one place in such a short time. Finally I would like to say a word about the appointment of next year's BL - unfortunately the word is unprintable.

IT'S NOT MY FAULT THIS PLACE IS A DUMP.

IT'S THE PERSON SITTING NEXT TO ME.

Up I was like a flash, boy. Smart mover I am in the mornings mind. I'd had this brainwave see. Darned on me sudden like. Simle little job it was. Piece of piss I told myself. Should crack it in a day easy. Where was I? Oh yes, up I jumped sort of after ~~REXING~~ resting for five minutes to let the tea cool a bit. Don't like it too hot first thing in the morning see. Well damn me if they didn't bring me a cold cup of tea. After my extra five minutes it was stone cold. Never mind I told myself jumping out of bed.

Always have a wash in the mornings I do. Sets you up for the day. Bloody pipes were frozen weren't they. Somebody must have left the door open again. Have to unfreeze them before I start. Have a cup of coffee before I start, and a fag. Well I just sat down for a minute with my coffee. Interesting bit in a mag caught my eye see. Just fancied a piece of toast and marmalade. Well I finished reading this short article, had my fag. Nearly smoke . Start after smoke I will.

After smoke I slipped down with the blow lamp to fix the pipes. Run out of avtur hadn't it. Well eventually fixed the pipes. Must put a notice up telling people to close the ~~XXXX~~ door. Well I had a fag and then got some paper. My typing isn't too good see. Still after a practice I got the hang of it. Nearly lunch. Start after lunch I will. Had another fag.

After lunch I fancied a quick bit of fresh air so I said I'd help feeding the doggies. Enjoy that I do. Well we fed the doggies. Thought I'd get a bit of wood in so I slipped off with the little sledge. Got ~~X~~ it down the gash shaft. Great sport that is mind. Watching it bounce off the bottom. No I never hit the drums now. Got that cracked. Well I just put my head round geophysics door for a fag and a chat see. Four o'clock. Not worth starting till after smoke now is it?

After smoke I ~~XXXX~~ thought I'd just mend that tear in my windproofs before it gets too big. ~~XXX~~ Never can get the sewing machine to work for me so I'll wait till Muff comes in so he can shew me. Well I got them mended in the end. Trendy patch it was. 6.30. First thing tomorrow I'll
