

PRODNOSE DOES NOT APPEAR IN THIS ISSUE

OR :

SALODE

HAS PRODNOSE BEEN DEFEATED AT LAST?
HAS HE BEEN BANISHED FOR EVER?

HARD TO SAY REALLY.

SPLODE Editorial

Hail, filthy readers! The hours of your transgressions are numbered, and verily, ye shall be judged!

The fact is that I was misled into the revivalist bit by the belief that a branch of the Y.M.C.A. had been opened at Halley Bay, and the picture it conjured up was a hideous one. I understand that even Flicko has been seen to sit next to the ping pong and sip his cocoa like a Young Man Christian.

One looks with horror on the future; the fretwork classes, a few words from our Vicar, the Pledge.....

Ah, yes, the Pledge. Perhaps it would not come amiss in some cases. The list of those who have been compelled to sleep at least some of it off on the scene of the crime is growing. At least one late rising gentleman looked like the Picture of Dorian Gray this noon. There, foolish youths, goes a living (if that's the word I want) proof of the power of the Demon Rum, especially in alliance with the Demon Creme de Menthe.

I am told, on good authority, though of course it is one of the first rules of responsible journalism that one does not reveal one's sources, that the following is a true story. Names have been changed to protect the innocent.

The Rev. Cornelius Hopp, of Ballsover, thought that his congregation's rendering of "Onward Christian Soldiers" * was dull and lifeless. He decided to liven things up by dancing into the aisle, and "showing them how to put across the message in a bouncy way".

Hardly had they reached the second verse, than the Rev., waving his arms above his head in devout enthusiasm, vanished through a faulty grille in the church floor into the central heating system.

A hot gosseller.

* A hymn, to the tune of "Lloyd George knew my father".

Hot Line; Opening ceremony of the Olympics week today.

Sports Comment; Due to bad reception unable to get many of the results.

In Div 1 the main news of the day was Chelsea's shock win at Derby, Also Man Utd have lost their opening three games. Arsenal are top of the table with three wins out of three followed by Ipswich. The new league side Hereford had their first win today at the expense of Reading. In the Scottish Cup the shock of the day was registered by second division Dunbarton by beating Airdrie.

There was large demonstrations in the Munich Games Village by coloured athletes due to the inclusion of Rhodesia in the Olympics. R.Charlton dropped. 178 bookings so far this season.

WILDLIFE OF THE ANTURATIC.

By Peter Shat. forward by His Royal Highness Prince Fillet.

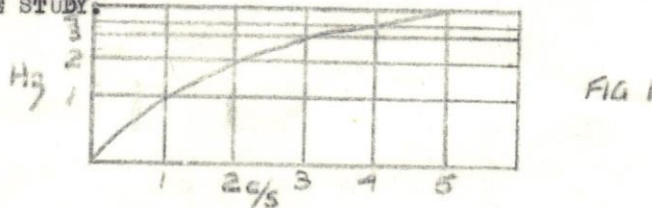

Volume One : The Caird Coast.

- a) The Damages Petrel.)- Not indigenous to the south, a migrant bird from the far north. Often leaves its mate~~KE~~ to look after the nest for long periods. Open season is any time of the year.
- b) Seldom-spotted chippy bird. - Spends much of its time on the nest, but has been seen in boggy regions. It warbles continually. This species is nearing extinction (but not near enough).
- c) Flick Fartridge. - Mainly a sea bird. Normally visits land for breeding purposes only. Suspected of being a sheep worrier. Considered by many to be a pest and may be shot on sight.
- d) The Bee-el bird. - One of the larger anturatic species. Easily attracted by whistlers. A voracious feeder and very fond of cow's dung (although it cannot tell the difference between this and bull shit). Unfortunately protected by act of parliament, but poachers would be well rewarded. (Instructions sent in a plain envelope.)
- e) The Gunsbury Jackdaw. - Collects anything. Gun users are warned that this bird may shoot back.
- f) Jax Cheetah. - Usually works in packs, but unlike its African relative is not often spotted. Chases dogs during the summer season.
- g) The long-nosed ferret. - A nocturnal creature. Eats very little, but makes up for this by its liquid intake. A wily creature but it may be trapped using gins. (Although many people consider these snares to be cruel, the R.S.P.C.A. informs us that the long-nosed ferret feels no pain)
- h) The Divine Badger. - Known locally as a bodger. Easily recognised by its bushy red hair. A harmless looking pest probably best removed with rat poison.
- i) The quack. - Unexpectedly this creature identifies itself with a piercing whistle. A dangerous blood sucker, but should be preserved as it often helps sick animals.
- j) The Welsh mole.)- Perpetually digs holes in the ice shelf. This animal should be approached with care, as it defends itself very well. Can be rendered insensible with either rum or whisky. Its method of communication is usually unintelligible to the average human being.

A STUDY OF HERTZ VS CYCLES PER SECOND

THE VARIOUS RAMIFICATIONS OF A NEW PROGRAM ARE NOT FULLY APPARENT UNTIL TIME HAS PASSED DURING WHICH PROGRAM IMPLEMENTATION HAS SURVIVED THE ATTACKS OF DETRACTORS AND FOOTSLOGERS. SO IT HAS BEEN WITH THE CHANGE-OVER FROM CYCLES PER SECOND TO HERTZ. THE AUTHOR HAS EXPENDED CONSIDERABLE INVESTIGATIVE EFFORT IN AN ATTEMPT TO SIMPLYFY THE APPLICATION OF HERTZ, AND HERBIN PRESENTS THE RESULTS OF THE STUDY.

SHORTLY AFTER THE NEW TERMINOLOGY WAS ANOUNCED, A PRELIMINARY STUDY REVEALED A NOT UNEXPECTED RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE TWO EMERGENT FIELDS OF THOUGHT. THE McHAT DATA PROCESSING DIVISION WAS BROUGHT INTO THE PICTURE AND GENEROUSLY OFFERED THE USE OF ITS LATEST MODEL COMPUTERS. FROM THE THOUSANDS OF MATRIX THAT Poured FROM THE MACHINES, A SUFFICIENT NUMBER WAS SELECTED TO PREPERE THE CONVERSION CHART SHOWN IN FIG 1.

REALISING THE EMOTIONAL REACTION TO THE CURVE OF FIG 1, THE COMPLETION DATE OF THE PROJECT WAS SLIPPED TO ACCOMODATE THE NECESSARY PSYCHOLOGICAL INTERPOLATIONS.

FEEDBACK FROM USERS QUICKLY REVEALED AN INTERRELATED PATTERN OF NEED FOR A MORE UNIFORMLY ACCEPTABLE MODE OF PRESENTATION. A NONOGRAM WAS SUEJESTED INASMUCH AS THE METEOROLOGIST OF TODAY IS ACCUSTEMED TO USEING SHORTCUTS AND APPROXIMATIONS IN HIS APPROACH TO PROTOTYPE DESIGNS. FORTUNATLY THE RELATIONSHIP COULD BE REDUCED TO SUCH A NONOGRAPH THROUGH THE USE OF A CONSTANT, AND FIG 2 WAS RELEASED.

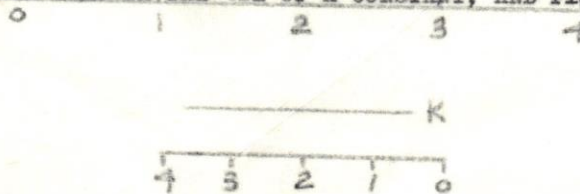

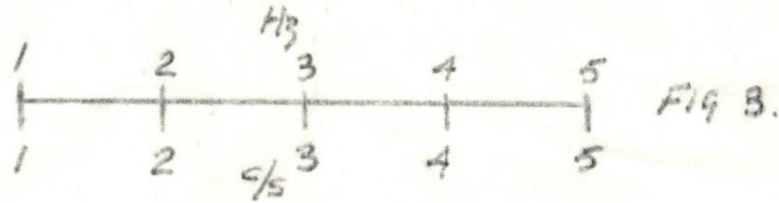

FIG 2 WAS AN INSTANT SUCCEES AND UNTOLD QUANTITIES OF THE NONOGRAM, NOW IN ITS 6TH PRINTING, WERE DISTRIBUTED AT NO COST, AND APPLICATION WAS MADE TO NASA FOR APPROVAL.

COMMENTS FROM STANLEY (PARALLELED BY THOSE FROM ARGY) WERE TO THE EFFECT THAT ALTHOUGH THE PROJECT SEEMED TO HAVE DEMONSTRATED THE EASE OF USING THE NEW SYSTEM, ie, THE NONOGRAPH, A FASTER MEANS OF APPLICATION WAS DESIRABLE.

CONT/

AT THAT POINT IN TIME, ALL AVAILIABLE INFORMATION WAS FED INTO FORTRAN COMPUTERS IN AN ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROGRAM. IN RETROSPECT IT REALLY WAS'NT MUCH OF A GAMBLE, BUT AT THE TIME WE HELD OUR COLLECTIVE BREATH, WHILE WE WAITED FOR THE PRINTOUT.

THAT THE EFFORT PAID OFF IS QUICKLY APPARANT FROM A STUDY OF FIG 3. THIS IS THE INSTANT NOMOGRAPH THAT IS NOW UNIVERSALLY USED. ITS UTTER SIMPLICITY ENCOURAGES MEMORISING IT IN ITS ENTIRETY. THE NOMOGRAPH ITSELF CAN BE FILED FOR OCCATIONAL REFERENCE.
TO BE CONTINUED NEXT WEEK.

IN THE RAPIDLY CHANGING FEILD OF ELECTRONICS, NEW TERMS ARE CONSTANTLY BEING INTERODUCED., RESULTING IN MILLIONS OF TERMS THAT NOBODY CAN UNDERSTAND. WOULD'NT IT BE EASIER TO GIVE TERMS ALREADY AVAILIABLE BROARDER APLICATIONS, AND THERBY REDUCE THE PLETHORA OF TERMS? AS AN AID IN ACHEEVING THIS GOAL AND TO FILL A COUPLE OF PAGES OF BULLSHIT, WE PRESENT HERE FOUR ELECTRONIC TERMS AND THE PROBLEM OF RE-DEFINING THEM FOR APLICATIONS OUTSIDE THE FEILD OF GOBBING.

1. HAMMER
2. PODGER
3. BASE COMANDER
4. SHOVEL.
