

OLYMPIC SPODE

PLASTIC MEDAL EDITION

1972

SPLODE Editorial

Forgive me, dear readers, if this editorial is below even the usual abysmal standards of this third rate publication. Indeed, I can be seen now and then flinging myself to the floor and rolling about in an agony of remorse, tearing out the editorial hair by fistfuls and uttering animal cries. I pause only to beat my head against the wall periodically with a steady drumming rhythm. This is not the effects of gin, as some think, but shame at being associated with a magazine for which hardly anybody can be bothered to write.

In addition, this week the symptoms are, as it says on your cold card "severe", since I have also to grovel before you in abased apologies for ~~X~~ the haste in which the editorial has to be written.

The fact is, the curse is come upon me cried
The Lady of Shallott (She sure knew her onions) or
THE EDITOR IS ON GASH.

PRODNOSE: Surely these emotional outbursts are hardly in the best of taste.

Editor : Vermin, you have no human sympathy, no sense, and B.O.

Prodnose slinks off.

Come to that, we won more medals at Hastings.

To the Editor

Dear Sir

I have only one comment to make about the vituperation, filth, pornography, lies, libel, gossip, scandal and slander and other sordid and unprintable matter which you have the turpitude to publish in your journal. Give us some more of it.

Now that the field season is pretty well here, you might be amused by this extract from "Hints to Explorers" by John Galloworthy ("Golly").

The Wornham shitting-in-a-blow technique

This method has been found ~~the~~ to be the best way yet devised of tending to nature in a blow when you are lying up.

First make damned sure that you want to go. Get dressed in all your outside gear from the waist up, and tie all the loose ends of your anorak tapes out of the way having tied the bottom of your anorak around your waist. You now know there are no loose ends to pee on or otherwise hinder you. All that is worn below the waist are your windproofs and mukluks. You are now ready to shoot outside and if you are not back in about 5 seconds you must be a sadist.

By using this method it will be seen or rather felt that your legs are going to get cold, but it is generally felt that it is better to have cold legs rather than fill all your trousers etc with snow and other less pleasant things.

Well a doctors life is easy down at Halley
For no bug or virus ever this way strayed
So to waiskey he did turn for he now has time to burn
Caused bby rapid falling off in people trade.

Prodnose: do you call that junk poetry
